Personal Projects:

---

- Real Time Face Detection \(Github Link\)

The application first captures facial images of individuals using a webcam and stores them as training data. These images are then preprocessed and used to train a machine learning model for facial recognition. Once trained, the model performs real-time face detection and recognition on live video input. When a known face is detected, the app matches it against the registered data and displays the corresponding name on the screen.

- Desktop Assistant \(Github Link\)

A voice-activated desktop assistant designed to streamline tasks through speech commands. Utilizes machine learning for accurate speech recognition and instruction execution. Features include browsing the web, launching applications, playing music, providing time/date updates, responding to queries, and more.
